

HICKMAN COURIER
PUBLISHED EVERY WEEK BY
George Warren,
OFFICE:
On the corner of Jackson and Kentucky Streets
(up stairs.)

CRAS. A. HOLCOMBE'S COLUMN.
DR. JOHN BULL'S
Great Remedies.
DR. JOHN BULL'S
Concentrated Extract of BUCHU
COMBINED WITH
Bromide of Potassium.

Purchase a bottle and carefully read directions.

BUCHU IS A STIMULANT, and of itself may fail to effect a cure, but BUCHU, when scientifically combined with Bromide of Potassium, and concentrated, produces a decided effect, and causes a healthy state, thus increasing the powers of digestion, allaying irritation, reducing all unnatural swellings, stopping pain and inflammation in the human body to a greater than the wastes, thus preventing decomposition and decay, giving a general nourishment, health and life to the system.

My BUCHU is good for all diseases arising from excesses and great weakness, and pain of the back and legs, rheumatism, and pains of the heart, with nervous palsied countenance, dryness of the skin, scrofula, syphilis, in its many forms, Ulcers, and Tumors.

If your system is affected by any of the above symptoms and diseases, relief is at hand. Get a bottle of my BUCHU and Bromide of Potassium at once and you may realize what I now tell you.

I know what I say. My record as a Compounder of Medicines is second to no man in the Southwest.

Twenty-five years ago, as my relatives all know well, found me behind the prescription counter in the city in which I now dwell. I have cured more patients than any man in the Southwest. Louisville, to compete with me, but, one after another, their guns have been silenced, and their efforts have been abortive.

My Medicine is good for all diseases, the greatest in the world, of my success. My reputation as a compounder of good, reliable medicines is well established.

I believe my BUCHU and Bromide of Potassium for the cure of all diseases of the urinary or genito-urinary organs, and of the Bladder, Uterus, Inflammation of the Palpis of the Kidney, and all that class of diseases. Buy a dollar bottle and be cured. Use as per directions in all cases.

JOHN BULL, M.D.

Manufacturer and Vender of the CELEBRATED

SMITH TONIC SYRUP.
FOR THE CURE OF

AGUE AND FEVER
on
CHILLS AND FEVER,

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine claims for it the following: that all diseases of the body, for the cure of the safe, certain, speedy, and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the New-England and Southern Medical Journals to hear his testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed. It is a safe medicine, a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, probable that in every case in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially difficult and long standing cases, it will be necessary to have a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S SENGEBALI FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

Extract of a Georgia, VILLANOW, WALKER COUNTY, Ga., June 29, 1865.

Dr. John Bull—Dear Sir: I have recently given your Worm Destroyer several trials, and in all cases it has been successful. It has failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of this kind.

I am sir, very respectfully yours,

JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M.D.

Dr. —— So unequalled and numerous are the testimonials in favor of my Worm Destroyer that newspaper space is entirely too small to give them all.

It is an infallible remedy for Worms. Try it and be convinced. See my JOURNAL for a more full description. JOHN BULL.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.

St. Louis, April 30.
Dear Sir:—Knowing the singular qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case:

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and held for sixteen months. Being now so often my friends have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hip. My general health is impaired, and I have lost my natural strength. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that it is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles.

Cards, Dr. JOHNSON.

P. S.—My Johnson was of a skillful surgeon. His mother recommended to her friends, and for many years used my Sarsaparilla with perfect success.

My dear friends—My Johnson states that the cures effected were almost miraculous. Read my JOURNAL for extended information and advice in your case. My friends, ministers and medical men—men who are known here in this community for integrity and veracity. I have recently received a most remarkable certificate from an eminent gentleman of Louisville.

JOHN BULL.

BULL'S PECTORAL WILD CHERRY.
BULL'S CEDAR BITTERS.
BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS.

All the above medicines prepared by Dr. John Bull at his laboratory, Fifth Street, Hickman, Ky.

For sale by Dr. HOLCOMBE, Druggist, Hickman, Ky.

March 17.

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

VOL. V.

HICKMAN, FULTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1871.

NO. 16.

N. P. HARNESS & CO.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

DEALERS IN

STOVES, Tinware and Castings,

ALSO,

Tin, and Mo. Iron, Steel and

CASINGS,

Axes, Hubs, Fellows, Spokes, etc, etc,

and all kinds of Woodwork.

ALSO,

STOVES.

Grates, Tin, Copper and

SHET-IRON WARE.

Job Work

done to order, such as Guttering, Roofing, etc.

all kinds of

MILL WORK, BRAZING, COPPER PIPES

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS AND GLASS.

Etc, Etc.

CLINTON STREET,

next door to McCutchen & Co's, Store,

Hickman, Ky.

J. H. DAVIS

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS.

Groceries,

BOOKS AND STATIONERY,

BOOTS,

SHOES,

HATS,

CAPS, etc.

CLINTON STREET, HICKMAN, KY.

Particular attention paid to Filling Orders.

Jan 8—17

FRANCIS MILLER,

Manufacturer and Dealer in

Havana and Domestic Cigars,

TOBACCO, SNUFF, PIPES, ETC.

also,

Toys, Notions, Etc.,

Clinton Street,

HICKMAN, KY.

Particular attention paid to Filling Orders.

Jan 8—17

Southern Express Company

HICKMAN, KENTUCKY.

WILL promptly attend to all business entrusted to him in Southwestern Kentucky and West Tennessee.

Jan 8—17

Lauderdale & Prather,

Attorneys and Counselors at Law

HICKMAN, KY.

Wholesale Grocer, Forwarding

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS

HICKMAN, KY.

AGENTS FOR

Ohio River Salt Company.

LARGE supply of SALT, LIME, and

CEMENT, and heavy

GROCERIES.

Sugar, Coffee and Molasses, etc, constantly on hand.

Money Saved is Money Made!

In ORDER to make room for a large

SPRING AND SUMMER STOCK, we will sell for the next two weeks our entire stock of

DRY GOODS.

CLOTHING, BOOTS AND

SHOES, HATS,

GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, &c.

at greatly reduced prices. Call and be convinced before purchasing elsewhere.

J. H. PLAUT & BLO. Feb 26.

HICKMAN MARBLE WORKS

HICKMAN, KY.

DEALER IN

ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE

MONUMENTS, TOMB AND GRAVE

STONES.

HAVING received a fine lot of American

HORSES, BUGGIES AND HACKS.

Thankful for patronage heretofore extended

to him, he solicits a continuance of same.

Respectfully,

DR. J. W. GOURLEY,

HICKMAN, KY.

APRIL 20.

Editor Kentuckian:—In the interest of the people of this State, I have written to you of date 16th inst.

I gave you the substance of the letter I wrote to Hon. Anderson during the war; I did not attach any of it to the letter I would with Mr. Anderson's permission to publish

it. I have no disposition to conceal it;

and knowing that I have given a correct version of the letter, I have no hesitation in authorizing Mr. Anderson, to publish my letter to him, at that all may see that

I was simply asking for personal relief, without any allusion whatever to politics.

Respectfully,

John Q. A. King.

KENTUCKY STREET,

Office Corner Jackson and Cumberland

Streets.

Sale and Livery Stable.

Wm. B. Plummer,

KENTUCKY STREET,

DEALER IN

ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE

MONUMENTS, TOMB AND GRAVE

STONES.

HAVING received a fine lot of American

HORSES, BUGGIES AND HACKS.

Thankful for patronage heretofore extended

to him, he solicits a continuance of same.

Respectfully,

B. C. Remage,

KENTUCKY STREET,

Office Corner Jackson and Cumberland

Streets.

HICKMAN, KY.

APRIL 20.

Editor Kentuckian:—In the interest of the people of this State, I have written to you of date 16th inst.

I gave you the substance of the letter I wrote

MISCELLANY.

Anybody Happy?

Is there one happy man or woman on the face of the earth? No, for it is impossible that any one should be completely happy. The conditions of happiness are neither known nor settled. Some place it in some place of poverty, some in the state of piet and religion. Some say it resides but in that middle state of competency, which is far removed from both extremes of indigence and riches. It is again owned that it is found along in the constant pursuits of gain, and the consequently constant exercise of hope, rather than instant enjoyment. You will hear one say, "If I only had a nice little farm, how independent and happy I could be." Another has said, "If you will hear the farmer complain of his hard lot of unceasing toil and care the year round, and he will exclaim, "What an easy time you folks have in town, while I have to endure sun and storm, and go from morning till night, you are sheltered from the rain, and the fierce heat of the sun, have nice pavements to walk on, and get what you want ready brought to your door, what myself and family consume is brought by hard ticks out of the pocket." In fact, we are always prone to think every occupation easier than the one we pursue.

The professional man confined to the dust and dampness of his office as he pours over his ancient documents and records rendered dim by time, sighs for the open air and the green fields, and envies the mechanic and the plowman, and thinks not a little of the quiet scenes of his own home. The city belle, pale from the excitement and late hours of the last ball, covets the mantling bloom of health that glows on the cheek of her rural cousin, while the rural cousin on the other hand, sighs for the attractions of city life, and would almost exchange health and its rosy bloom for the joys and pastimes of that imagined paradise which her fancy has created in that, and just before his death a large manufacturer of iron called "the iron world." She comes to town. She is initiated into the follies, the refinements, the blandishments and the elegant nothings of society. She is surrounded by easy mannered well dressed admiring beaux, and is complimented, perhaps, by jealous rivals. She learns what is called the "style," "the mode," "the ton," what is proper to say, and what is proper not to say at certain times, and on certain occasions when to "sit at home," and when "not to sit at home," when to call, and when not to call, when to receive calls, and when not to receive them.

In short, she learns at length, the mystery of polite and refined society. But still she sighs, sighs; it may be for the joy of freedom and the unrestrained manners of country life. She is not happy. The shadows rest at times upon her brow, and the never ending dream of human sorrow is still a visitor in the mansion of her heart. She is, and is she happy then? No, with many greater wants and responsibilities begin. And then, after a few years of wedded life, she looks back and sighs for the oasis she left behind in the days of her "single blessedness."

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot. Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist. The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

LEAD PENN SULL.

Camel Breeding in the West.

A Nevada paper gives the following interesting account of the acclimation and use of camels in that State: "On a ranch on the Carson river, eight miles below the mouth of Six mile Creek, there is a herd of twenty-six camels, all but two of which were born and raised in the State. Two of the older herd of nine or ten brought here some years ago are now living. It would seem that the original lot fell into the hands of Mexicans, who treated them badly, over loading and abusing them. The men who have them now are Frenchmen, and me, it seems, who had some experience with camels in Europe. They find no difficulty in getting them to drink, as they are used to water, and are easily satisfied with a small quantity, and strongly impregnated with sulphur.

Good Mr. Sneath had been talking to little Calvin in Sunday school about the evils which result from using tobacco, and told him how, when he was a little boy he met a gentleman in the street who said, "I will give you a dollar if you let me to throw it away." At how the gentleman said, "My boy, you have taught me a lesson," and never smoked again. So little Calvin tried it. He asked the first man he met to "please throw away that filthy cigar," but the man said, "I'll learn you manners, you little fool," and he cuff'd little Calvin's ears till his nose bled. So little Calvin thinks things are changed since Mr. Sneath was young.

A Valuable Secret.

The Scientific American says: "The unpleasant odor propagated by perspiration is frequently the source of vexation to persons who are subject to it. Nothing is simpler than to remove this odor much more effectually than by the application of such aungs and perfumes as are in use. It is only necessary to procure some of the compound spirits of ammonia and about two table-spoons full in a basin of water. Washing the face, hands and arms with this leaves the skin as clean, sweet, and fresh as one could wish. The wash is perfectly harm less and very cheap. It is recommended on the authority of an experienced physician."

General Lee.

The Man that Denied all Gifts, and Set an Example of Honest Industry.

In the winter of 1864 the City Council of Richmond tendered Gen. Lee an elegant mansion as some small token of the high estimate in which he was held by the city which he had so long defended.

But the grand old man replied: "I do not expect to be in Richmond during the continuance of the war, and I am far from comfortable as they have a right to expect to be in these times. I must, therefore, with my thanks for your consideration, most respectfully decline your offer. If you have money to give, I hope you will bestow it upon my private soldiers, who are more needy and more deserving than myself."

At the close of the war offers of pecuniary assistance poured in upon him from all sides but he steadfastly refused to receive them.

AN ENGLISH NOBLEMAN.

Thinking he would rejoice in some place of quiet, his friends, who were with him, suggested a splendid seat and a handsome annuity. He nobly replied: "I am deeply grateful, but I cannot consent to receive my native State in the hour of her deep adversity. I must abide her fortune and share her fate."

LARGE SALARIES OFFERED.

Soon after he took charge of Washington College he was visited by the agent of an insurance company, who offered him the presidency at a salary of ten thousand dollars. He told the agent that he could not give up his position in the college, and could not accept the offer.

But, "General," said the agent, "we do not want you to discharge any duties. We simply wish the use of your name; that will abundantly compensate us."

"Excuse me sir," was the prompt and decided rejoinder. "I can't consent to receive pay for services I do not render."

He received many offers of the sort, and just before his death a large manufacturer of iron called "the iron world." She is initiated into the follies, the refinements, the blandishments and the elegant nothings of society. She is surrounded by easy mannered well dressed admiring beaux, and is complimented, perhaps, by jealous rivals. She learns what is called the "style," "the mode," "the ton," what is proper to say, and what is proper not to say at certain times, and on certain occasions when to "sit at home," and when "not to sit at home," when to call, and when not to call, when to receive calls, and when not to receive them.

She learns at length, the mystery of polite and refined society. But still she sighs, sighs; it may be for the joy of freedom and the unrestrained manners of country life. She is not happy. The shadows rest at times upon her brow, and the never ending dream of human sorrow is still a visitor in the mansion of her heart. She is, and is she happy then? No, with many greater wants and responsibilities begin. And then, after a few years of wedded life, she looks back and sighs for the oasis she left behind in the days of her "single blessedness."

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist.

The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist.

The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist.

The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist.

The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

Such a thing as perfect happiness on earth is unknown, and can not exist.

The nearest approach to it is to be in my opinion, in good health and useful employments. The health of the body is more to do with the harmony of the mind, than many would suppose, and cheerfulness and sunshine can sometimes be brought sooner to the heart, by following the advice and prescriptions of an intelligent physician, than by listening to the most learned and elaborate disquisitions of the theologian. Sound digestion is apt to bring sound sleep, and a proper amount of quiet exercise, the faculty of the mind, in harmonious play, and produces that generally pleasant expression of countenance, which denotes the opposite of misery.

The philo-bore is as unhappy as the fool, and the humorist that makes thousands laugh, is haunted by hypochondriac and a prey to that very melancholy one of his quainter feelings. The poor, the wretched, the unhappy, the poor, the wretched, the saint, the holy man of God, though wrapt in visions of ecstatic and eternal bliss beyond the grave, is rarely, if ever, happy this side of it.

They tell us that the best way to be happy, is to be content with our lot.

Very true, but who is there on earth that is content with his lot?

J. W. POWELL. W. D. POWELL.
W. D. POWELL
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
GROCERS.

AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Dealers in all Kinds of

COUNTRY PRODUCE AND LIVESTOCK.

Also, Stock Pens Kept for Drovers.

AFTER several years absence from the grocery and commission business in Hickman, we again offer our services to our friends and the public in the same line of business and a renewal of their patronage. We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings. We purchase all kinds of goods, varying greatly in value, for our customers, and are fully responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings. We purchase all kinds of goods, varying greatly in value, for our customers, and are fully responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

We feel it our duty to be responsible for our transactions and hope to give satisfaction in all our dealings.

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

SATURDAY, APR. 29, 1871

Masonic.—Fulton Lodge No. 120 meet regular every 2ND MONDAY NIGHT in each month. Officers—J. H. Bonhag, W. M. T. D. Corbett, S. W.; W. A. Brevard, J. W. T. Davis, Trust. Robt. W. Davis, Secretary.

HICKMAN R. A. CHAPTER, NO. 49.—The Hickman R. A. Chapter No. 49, meet the 6th Wednesday in every month at night. N. L. Nixon, H. P., Wm. Brewster, Secy.

GEO. P. RORER & CO., 40 Park Row, New York, and S. M. PEPPER & CO., 37 Park Row, New York, are our sole agents in that city, and are authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAIL.—The Mail via N. & N. W. Railroad arrives at Hickman at 10 A. M. and departs at 1 P. M. daily, except Sunday. Mail closed at 8 P. M. The Post Office opens from 8 to 10 o'clock in the morning. Positively no business done after 10 o'clock.

SASH LOST.—Lost, a silk plaid sash. The finder will be liberally rewarded for returning to this office.

This section is greatly in need of every kind of labor.

Some farmers say the wheat crop will not be near as good this season as heretofore promised.

The caterpillars are ruining fruit through this section. Orchards are nearly leafless.

朋友们对 the Christian Missionary work in Kentucky Purchases should read the card from the Rev. Mr. Turner, published in this paper.

The dangerous illness of the Pope is announced. This intelligence will be received with grief, by Catholics especially, throughout the whole civilized world.

DR. HUBBARD gives an important notice to those indebted to the estate of J. S. Hubbard, dec'd., which it would be well for those interested to read and heed.

The recent cold snap is said to have visited surrounding sections with a frost and "freeze" which devastated the gardens, killed the fruit, and did some damage to the wheat.

THE HON. ED. CROSSLAND, M. C., has returned from Washington, and is now at his home, in Mayfield. He is some what improved in health, though yet very feeble.

The District Methodist Conference meets in Hickman, May 18th, and will probably remain in session about four days. About 60 delegates, preachers and laymen, will be in attendance. Bishop McTyeire will preside, and preach on Sunday.

A SMALL child in west Hickman came near losing its life Monday night last. The mosquito has caught fire from a lamp, and child and all, came near burning up, before it could be extinguished.

TAX RADICAL CONVENTION which assembles in Frankfort the 17th of May, allows each of the Purchase Counties two delegates. Hickman and Fulton counties, we hear, will be represented.

RELIGION.—The Right Reverend Geo. D. Cummings, Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Kentucky, will preach at Hickman, the 2d and 3d of May. At Jordan Station, (basket meeting,) in this county, the 1st day in May.

THE BAKER BUSINESS.—Nearly every family in this community, knows Ed Mang, the baker. He was here before the war and since, and it is therefore unnecessary to recommend him as a good baker. See his card in this paper. He is faithful for pure patronage, and solicits a continuation of public favor.

Some wives in Hickman have been advised to serve legal notices on saloon keepers to prevent said saloons from selling whisky to their husbands, as wives have a right to do now under Kentucky law. They were indignant at the idea of their husbands being pronounced "inebriates." Others assert their intention to do so if reformation is not made.

We have news of a disastrous break in the Mississippi levee, above New Orleans. The crevass has reached alarming proportions, and can not be filled at present. An immense body of water is pouring through the break, flooding the country for miles, destroying millions of property, and endangering New Orleans.

MAY DAY CELEBRATION AT CLINTON.—The pupils of Miss Hattie Barber, music teacher at Clinton Academy, Clinton, Ky., have elected Miss Florence Shaw, of this county, Queen of May. The day promises to be a happy one. The leading beauties of Hickman county will vie with each other in their wealth of loveliness.

The discussions between Rev. J. R. Graves and Rev. Samuel Watson, prominent Baptists, commenced at the Green law Opera house, Memphis, May 3, the latter offering and the former denying the affirming proposition: "Do the Scriptures teach that persons who have lived here and died, have returned, and conversed with persons in the flesh?"

The people of Paducah and Cairo are preparing for a grand May day celebration. The Cairo paper says, "There will be genuine enjoyment—freedom without undue familiarity, fun without coarseness, hilarity without intoxication, and as good a time generally as you can hope to realize during the half of a long life-time."

The Nashville Board of Trade have resolved themselves into a chartered company under the incorporation laws of Tennessee for the purpose of owning and running railroads. The object is for Nashville to control the railroads effecting Nashville interest.

The Odd Fellow's Celebration.

Last Wednesday, the anniversary of the introduction of the order of Odd Fellows in the United States, was appropriately celebrated by the brotherhood at this place. The rainy, unfavorable weather prevented as large an attendance as was expected, delegations from neighboring lodges having been disappointed who had signified their intention of being present to join in the anniversary celebration.

The Brotherhood formed in procession in front of their lodge rooms on Jackson street, and under the lead of the Hickman Star Band, marched from Jackson to Clinton, up Clinton to Kentucky street, and thence through the upper part of town to the Methodist church, where the Order and audience assembled were addressed by the Rev. Mr. Steele, of the Methodist church.

The address of Mr. Steele was a splendid effort, evidencing a thorough acquaintance with his subject—the principles and purposes of the institution, and abounded with, in such happy flights of eloquence, as to impress the whole audience.

The speaker is seriously gifted with language that the hearer's mind is perhaps tempted to linger too long on his gorgeously decked speech.

He is the sheriff's purpose,

After the commitment trial, to have removed both negroes to some jail for their better protection. From what we hear the negroes richly deserved their fate, but it is nevertheless a matter of very serious regret that the law was not permitted to deal with them. We fear this act of violence will be seized upon by the committee to visit oppression upon our Tennessee pretex.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the trial to a verdict or acquit the negroes.

The Hickman Star Band made its debut in public procession on this occasion. Its performance exceeded the expectations of its warmest friends. The whole public compliment them highly. They have made wonderful progress, and promise to make a successful band.

The County Court, the 1st of April, 1871.

The following important letter was sent to the Sheriff of Weakley county, by order of the Governor of Tennessee:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Nashville, Tenn., April 18, 1871.—Sir:—Information has been received at this department, to the effect that two colored men, viz: Bill and Ed Johnson, were summarily executed, a short time since, at Raulston Station, in Weakley county, Tenn., by a party of disguised men, one of said party being in the custody of an agent commissioned by the Governor to bring him from the State of Kentucky, and deliver him to the jail of Weakley county, Tenn., the other having been forcibly taken from said jail the morning.

I am directed by his Excellency, Gov. D. W. C. Seiter, to call upon you to furnish this department, at the earliest possible moment, with an official report of the facts in the case.

It now rests with the civil authorities of your county to elect whether they will prosecute the

HICKMAN COURIER
PUBLISHED EVERY WEEK BY
George Warren,
OFFICE:
On the corner of Jackson and Kentucky Streets
(up stairs.)

GEORGE WARREN, Editor.

SATURDAY, APR. 29, 1871.

The peach crop of Southern Kentucky is comparatively uninjured.

Rye has overtaken the wheat crop in the counties of Cumberland and Russell.

The peanut crop of the United States exceeded 900,000 bushels last year.

Piano-making is the third manufacturing interest in this country.

A Line of packets to Shawneetown, is the latest Paducah project.

CREVASSES in the levees are numerous in the vicinity of New Orleans.

EVERY male citizen of Selma, Alabama, is obliged to pay $5 street tax.

PADUCAH is getting up a May Day procession three and a half miles long.

IN Kansas it is now the custom of vigilance committees to hang horse thieves head downwards.

THE NEW ERA says that hog cholera is playing the deuce with the prospects of Christian country bacon crop.

THE TEXAS STATE FAIR will be held at Houston, May 22. Horace Greeley will deliver the address.

There is a paper published in Indiana called the Gimlet. Its enemies call it a bore.

THE CINCINNATI CHRONICLE says that a man died in Indiana the other day from laughing too much.

A MONSTROSITY in the shape of a girl with four legs is on exhibition at Jackson, Tenn.

THEY have on the Potomac a large seine boat propelled by steam. Fishing by steam!

THE CONVENTION in Graves county on the 17th, to nominate a candidate for Circuit Court Clerk, failed to make a nomination.

THE CONSUMPTION of artificial flowers of all kinds in the United States amounts to something over $15,000,000 worth annually.

LEN FAXON says that mosquitoes come up to Paducah from Cairo very drunk, but soon get thirsty and go back to take another suck at Cairo editors.

THEY are 61,000 clergymen in the United States who divide $42,000,000 salary among them annually. Some of them get $10,000 a year; others what they can get.

Governor Leslie, while stepping from a train in motion, at Glasgow Junction, on Sunday morning about daylight, was thrown under the cars, and came near being crushed to death.

THE AMERICAN UNION CLUB of New Orleans, tendered a formal reception to General Sherman. Among those who participated were Generals Longstreet and Jeff. Thompson.

WHEN THE KU KLUX BILL passed there were seventeen Democratic Congressmen absent from their seats. Such of these gentlemen as have not reasonable excuse for their absence at that time deserve the severest censure their constituents can impose.

IN GARRARD COUNTY the value of hogs paid for through the National Bank last year was $250,000. This does not include various lots that were driven off or not paid for through the bank. The cattle raised in Garrard last year are estimated at $250,000.

Gov. Leslie offers a reward of $500 for the apprehension and delivery to the jailor of Fayette county of Elijah Halsey and Alexander Luttrell, charged with the murder of Ben A. Muir, on the 16th of February, 1862.

THE CLARKSVILLE (Tenn.) CHRONICLE learns that in several portions of the county the fly is playing havoc with tobacco plants. The apprehensions are expressed that there will be so great a scarcity of plants as to lessen materially the proposed crop of this season.

GRANT has called an extra session of the Senate, to meet on the 10th of May. None of the members will go far from Washington; nevertheless they will draw their mileage just as though they had gone all the way home. Grant is an economical administration—very.

GENERAL WIRT ADAMS writes to the Vicksburg Herald, denying that there is any apprehension of that city being "cut off" and made an inland town. He says that for more than a generation it has been confidently foretold, because certain States were denied admission into the Union till forced to ratify it, they at the same time propose to accept both of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, or the legislation under them. While the Democratic members did not believe that the reconstruction acts were constitutional, nor approve of the way the Fifteenth Amendment was ratified, because certain States were denied admission into the Union till forced to ratify it, they at the same time propose to accept both of the full effect. This was the tenor of the debate indicated, and what the above language of the address was intended to convey. Only three members of the party—two from Maryland and one from Delaware—opposed it.

GREELEY OFF THE TRACK.—Horace Greeley has got his back up about what he regards as the unfair distribution of the Government patronage, and in consequence declines taking any part in the organization of the Republican party in New York city. His letter to the Chairman of the State Executive Committee, refusing to accept the post assigned him, concluded by saying:

"Had a little forbearance and conciliation been evinced by the appointing power at Washington, I think this might have been different."

GOVERNOR ENGLISH was re-elected Governor of Connecticut by an exceedingly small majority, to be sure, but sufficiently large for all practical purposes. After thorough official count and examination of the ballots, it is found that English is elected by one majority.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—We regret to announce that Hon. Oscar Turner, of Blandford county, met with a very painful and serious accident yesterday. He had started from Blandford to go to Paducah. On the road his horse became frightened, ran away and threw him from the buggy, breaking his leg just above the knee. The accident will confine him at home for some time. He is working very faithfully in making some improvements to the Comptroller's State apartments.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE says that the first session of the Forty-second Congress adjourned amidst a wrangle between blackguards, yet it argues that the effects of the war are to harmonize the Republican party. Now, as the principal blackguards between whom the wrangle occurred were Butler and Farnsworth, two leading Radicals, we fail to perceive the indications of harmony.

INDIAN DEMONSTRATIONS OF WAR.—A telegram has been received at Washington from the acting Governor of Arkansas, announcing that the Indians are making a formidable hostile demonstration along the frontier, and that white settlers are coming in from all quarters. An appeal is made for additional troops, but the War Department finds that it has none at its disposal. The request will be referred to General Sherman, who is on the frontier investigating the condition of the troops there, and the points at which they are most needed.

Words of Warning.
We print on our first page, the Address of the Democratic Senators and Representatives in Congress to the American Democracy. It foreshadows the grounds upon which the Democracy will make the Presidential contest of 1872, and as will be seen, fully recognizes the changed situation of the country. We commend it to the attention of those extreme men who by partisan appeals to popular prejudices, and for the sake of local triumphs, would endanger the national contest. These extreme men have denounced us, and others, as semi-radical, because we advocated the very ideas set forth in this address; or, in other words, that we recognized negro testimony and such questions, as they practically exist, and not as we would have them. These men must cease now, or throw themselves in direct opposition to the National Democracy. In the following extract our fellow citizens are pointed out in all parts of the Union to spare no effort to maintain peace and order, to carefully protect the rights of every citizen, to preserve kindly relations among all men, and to disown and discourage any violation of the rights of any citizen by any of its amendments.

Let us in conclusion earnestly beg of the Radical partisans to stir up strife in the land, to renew the issues of the war, or to obstruct the peace and prosperity to the Southern States, because it is thus that they seek to divert the attention of the country from the corruption and extravagance of their administration of public offices, and the dangerous and profligate attempts they are making toward the creation of a centralized military state.

That is the platform upon which the Democratic party in the South must unite.

WE can win upon no other.

The Radical Declaration of War.

THE PASSAGE of the Kuklux bill and rejection of the general amnesty bill, furnish conclusive proof of the campaign policy on which the Radicals mean to rely next year. The Kuklux bill is expected to foment disturbance in the South which will supply a pretext for the refusal of amnesty; and the relations of the people of the two sections thus muddled, the bayonet election law may be brought to bear upon the ballot-box with a show of necessity if not of justice.

This is the warlike strategy to which we have so often referred. It is a scheme made up partly of the spirit of eternal hate, and partly of the lust of eternal strife, a hideous revolutionary scheme, the more hideous because it is brutal, the more cruel because it is deliberate, appealing to the wicked passions of the Northern people and the venal desires of the Radical politicians.

Fortunately, however, a Massachusetts Judge apprised and is heard. They declare the millions taken from State officers illegal and wrong.

"A Stronger Power."

WE publish elsewhere, this morning, an official communication from Governor Senter of Tennessee. In it he says:

"I think, though perhaps it is to strike the great majority of those who read it as abundantly justified by the grave nature of the circumstances under which it was written. Hardly has the ink with which President Grant so eagerly signed the Kuklux bill dried upon the paper before the telegraph flashes over the country one of the most flagrant outrages yet committed within our borders. It was a deed redolent of lawlessness, and marked by a contemptuous disregard of all the laws and authorities, such as can be repudiated only by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted, fact with the entire nation, and his election is a certainty. He rests in a good measure with himself and the bayonets at his back. Now, we do not propose that the vote of Tennessee shall be cast for Grant, either voluntarily or by force, in 1872. We shall sustain Governor Senter in his determination to preserve order in Tennessee at all hazards, or, shall these midnight assassins, while wreaking vengeance upon their victims, murder our liberties at the same blow? Congress has clothed the President with extraordinary powers, far less limited than those ever exercised by a proclaimed dictator. His renomination is already accepted,